INTRODUCTION
Every city, town and county in the United States contains young people and families in crisis, as well as youth who experience homelessness or are at high risk of becoming homeless. A coordinated community response is essential to prevent, reduce and eventually end youth homelessness in America. Every government entity has a role to play, and partnerships with corporations and philanthropic organizations are key to ensure that all youth experiencing homelessness can access what they need when they need it. Federal resources are currently insufficient to fully meet the needs of every young person in your community, and they will likely remain insufficient for some time. This publication provides model legislation that you can use to create the types of services and housing that youth who experience homelessness or at risk of becoming homeless need in your community.

WHY DO YOUTH EXPERIENCE HOMELESSNESS?
There is more than one route to youth homelessness. Many young people flee home in response to conflict, abuse, neglect or – increasingly – poverty. Others are pushed out by parents who reject their behavior, sexual orientation, gender identity or news of pregnancy. Youth who exit the child welfare, juvenile justice, behavioral health or mental health systems are also likely to experience homelessness.

Contributing Factors
Oftentimes, youth homelessness is the culmination of multiple circumstances – from violence to economic hardship.

Youth Fall Through the Cracks
Each of these systems is designed to serve youth. In school, teachers can identify students who are facing crisis, have recently lost housing or are at-serious risk of becoming homeless. Unfortunately, many youth become disconnected from these systems.

Without youth-centric systems that provide prevention services, early and crisis intervention and long-term housing with support services, young people will continue to experience homelessness.
HOW ARE YOUTH UNIQUE FROM OTHER HOMELESS POPULATIONS?

The factors that affect youth homelessness are complex and differ from those impacting other homeless populations because of developmental needs and limited life experiences. Youth homelessness is unique because young people:

- Are physically, emotionally, psychologically and socially still developing — they are adults-in-progress with unique strengths and assets. They are not fully developed adults and should not be expected to function within an adult-oriented system of homelessness intervention.
- Enter into homelessness with little or no work experience.
- Are often forced into leaving their education prior to completion (i.e. junior high and high school) as a result of their homelessness. They also experience educational/academic gaps due to transiency and changing schools.
- Experience high levels of criminal victimization, including sexual exploitation and labor trafficking.
- Enter into homelessness without life skills, such as cooking, money management, housekeeping, dealing with landlords, job searching, etc.
- Often have to manage complex, ongoing relationships with parents, but may have opportunities to resolve conflicts with parents or seek housing placement with extended kin.
- Experience great difficulty accessing services they need without parental consent.

WHAT ARE THE NEEDS OF YOUTH EXPERIENCING HOMELESSNESS?

Safety. Youth experiencing homelessness face grave threats to their safety. On the street, they risk being subjected to human trafficking and other crimes. When they do find a temporary place to stay, they are in vulnerable situations that make it easy for adults to exploit or harm them. When youth find it necessary to seek accommodations where homeless adults are also housed, shelters are often not a safe environment.

Crisis Intervention, Shelter¹ and Housing. Youth experiencing homelessness are in crisis. Often, they do not know where to turn for help. Young people tend to avoid traditional adult programs because they do not feel safe or identify with the homeless populations served by those shelters. Street based outreach and drop in centers offer immediate services to youth experiencing homelessness, such as food, clothing, showers, laundry, bus tokens and hygienic supplies. In addition, youth who work with the program can build relationships with other young people over time, and refer them to housing and services available throughout the community. Shelter is not a long-term solution, but it is an important first step for youth on the path to stability, whether that involves family reunification or access to more permanent housing. The provision of developmentally appropriate assessments to young people stay in a safe environment also facilitates more successful service referrals and housing placements.

Youth Specific Services and Case Management. In terms of both the pathways to homelessness and the necessary means to exit, young people are different from adults. Emerging adulthood – which generally occurs between the ages of 18 and 25 – is recognized as an important developmental phase. Research shows that parts of the brain responsible for certain decision-making (particularly decisions to engage in risky behaviors) are still developing at that time. Youth services and case management must therefore reflect developmentally appropriate principles.

HOW TO PASS A RUNAWAY AND HOMELESS YOUTH LAW

1. ASSUME LEADERSHIP OR FIND A LEADER
   a. If your organization is familiar with the creation, promotion or analysis of similar policies, offer to lead the initiative for state runaway and homeless youth funding.
   b. If your organization is motivated but lacks relevant expertise, identify and contact the most qualified group in the area.
      i. Be prepared to discuss your idea for an RHY legislative campaign, as well as any meaningful progress to date.
   c. Contact the ABA Commission on Homelessness and Poverty, who may be able to offer your region training and technical assistance in developing the policy framework and legislative advocacy skills to complete your campaign. (http://www.americanbar.org/groups/public_services/homelessness_poverty.html)

2. DISCUSS AND IMPLEMENT APPROPRIATE LANGUAGE
   a. Refer to our model RHY bill in the next section and to other state’s statutes in Appendix A to help state legislators craft their own statute.
   b. To craft a more expansive bill, examine these state model statutes published by the American Bar Association (ABA). They address legal issues relevant to runaway and homeless youth, including education, identification and consent to medical care.

3. STUDY SUCCESSFUL EXAMPLES OF FUNDED RHY STATUTES
   a. California
      i. Homeless Youth Projects (HYP)
      ii. Homeless Youth and Exploitation Program (HYEP)
      iii. California Youth Crisis Line (CYCL)
   b. Colorado
      i. Colorado Homeless Youth Services Act
   c. Florida
      i. Runaway Youth Shelters
   d. Maine
      i. Homeless Youth Program
   e. Massachusetts
      i. Homeless Youth Act
      ii. Statewide Homeless Youth Count

2 See Appendix A for more detailed information on existing statutes.
ii. LGBTQ Homeless Youth Training Grant Fund

4. BUILD SUPPORT IN THE COMMUNITY
   a. Assess organizing capacity.
      i. Evaluate your readiness to engage and empower constituents using this online Community Organizing Capacity Tool from Bolder Advocacy.
   b. Assess advocacy capacity.
      i. Identify the skills, gaps and opportunities that define your advocacy agenda.
      ii. From there, utilize this Advocacy Capacity Tool to focus resources and achieve more efficient results.
   c. Recruit advocates.
      i. If possible, reach out to nonprofit board members throughout the community.
      ii. For advice on how to enlist these valuable allies, review this board advocacy recruitment project from the Washington Low Income Housing Alliance (WLIHA).

5. PREPARE FOR THE LEGISLATIVE PROCESS
   a. Train advocates on the specific channels, policies and procedures that define your state legislature.
      i. To explore the legislative process in New York, refer to this documentary from Sienna College. The video depicts how Professor Donna McIntosh and her students meet with policymakers to secure funding for runaway and homeless youth.
   b. Review lobbying regulations.
      i. Ensure that your organization complies with all state and federal lobbying laws.
   c. Research and review current state laws, regulations, and appropriation levels that may be available to unaccompanied homeless youth. (Legislators like to be given credit for past accomplishments, and your campaign should be framed as an ‘add on’ to existing public policy.)

6. COLLABORATE WITH POLICYMAKERS
   a. Visit state lawmaker websites to identify senators and representatives who are attentive to issues of youth homelessness. Pay particular attention to Chairs of specific committees that may have oversight of homelessness, housing, and health and human services (including child welfare matters). Committee chairs often sent agenda’s for legislative hearings and policy review and should be courted early on in your process.
   b. After researching his or her legislative record, set up a meeting with the legislator or an appropriate member of staff to discuss your proposal.
      i. If possible, consider scheduling a group meeting.
      ii. Be prepared to deliver a detailed fact sheet. This document should clearly and effectively prove why your issue belongs on the lawmaker’s agenda.
   d. Identify a few key champion Legislators and try to make them bi-partisan (both Republicans and Democrats).
   e. Follow up after the meeting to express your appreciation and review next steps.
   f. Stay in contact. Periodically check what you can do to help and share any new information as it arises.
7. Speak to Members of the Relevant Committee or Subcommittee If the Bill Progresses That Far
   a. As soon as the bill is introduced to committee, seize the opportunity to express support.
      If possible, you should meet with every member of the committee.
      i. Please note that qualified experts – including executive directors and other experienced staff – are permitted to testify during committee hearings.

8. If the Bill Reaches the House or Senate Floor, Campaign on Multiple Fronts
   a. Call, email or write legislators to support the bill.
      i. Encourage colleagues, members, followers and other organizations to do the same.
   b. Coordinate a public campaign.
      i. Identify common themes, data/information, and policy priorities that can be adopted by multiple stakeholders in your campaign. This helps to craft a consistent message.
         Campaign themes should include following aspects: (a) need and vulnerability of the population, (b) equitable treatment for youth and children in responding to homelessness, and (c) the importance of investments in youth and a return on investment in helping to reclaim and stabilize young lives into productive citizens.
      ii. Publish letters to the editor and other persuasive content for public consumption.
      iii. Encourage colleagues, members, followers and other organizations to do the same.
      iv. Post frequently but purposefully on all social media platforms.
         1. Create a memorable hashtag to be used on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.
            a. Review and adapt strategies from the following examples:
               i. DC Alliance of Youth Advocates (DCAYA) campaign to raise awareness for homeless youth
               ii. American Association of University Women (AAUW) handbook on social media
               iii. Canadian Society of Association Executives (CSAE) instructions for a successful campaign
         2. Consult this guide to digital policy advocacy from the Alliance for Justice (AFJ).

9. Either Before or While the Bill Clears Both Houses, Reach Out to Your Governor
   a. Follow the same steps outlined in Section 8.

10. If the Bill is Signed into Law, Follow Its Implementation
    a. Establish a respectful working relationship with the agency or agencies responsible for administering the law.
       i. Make sure to explain your role in drafting the original bill.
    b. Request periodic updates and pass along comments, critiques and recommendations when appropriate.
    c. Assign a staffer to track news and other developments pertaining to the law.
    d. Publicize any successful outcomes associated with the legislation.
    e. Research reauthorization protocols and prepare a follow-up campaign if necessary.
11. TRACK YOUR STATE BUDGET
   a. Call, email or write your governor to support or oppose specific amendments.
      i. State budgets usually adhere to a standard process:
         1. Upon analyzing their needs, agencies submit requests to the executive.
         2. The governor reviews these submissions, and passes along a budget proposal to the legislature.
         3. The legislature amends, approves and returns the finalized budget to the governor.

APPENDIX A

The following appendix includes samples of currently enacted state Runaway and Homeless Youth (RHY) legislation. This list is non-exhaustive. It demonstrates the differences in state-by-state approaches to RHY legislation. Differences may include: definitions of homeless or runaway youth, eligibility requirements for RHY programs (specifically age limits), length of stay in shelters, liability for shelters, notice to or consent from parents and funding. Minnesota, Maine, and Washington take different approaches to addressing youth homelessness, but have all enacted comprehensive and fully funded RHY legislation.

Washington RHY Statute

Definitions

1. "Child," "juvenile," "youth," and "minor" means any unemancipated individual who is under the chronological age of eighteen years.
3. "Runaway" means an unmarried and unemancipated minor who is absent from the home of a parent or guardian or other lawful placement without the consent of the parent, guardian, or lawful custodian.
4. "Street youth" means a person under the age of eighteen who lives outdoors or in another unsafe location not intended for occupancy by the minor and who is not residing with his or her parent or at his or her legally authorized residence.
5. "Unaccompanied" means a youth or young adult experiencing homelessness while not in the physical custody of a parent or guardian.
6. "Young adult" means a person between eighteen and twenty-four years of age.

Legislative Findings

1. The legislature finds that every night thousands of homeless youth in Washington go to sleep without the safety, stability, and support of a family or a home. This population is exposed to an increased level of violence, human trafficking, and exploitation resulting in a higher incidence of substance abuse, illness, and death. The prevention and reduction of youth and young adult homelessness and protection of homeless youth is of key concern to the state. Nothing in chapter ..., Laws of 2015 (this act) is meant to diminish the work accomplished by the implementation of Becca legislation but rather, the intent of the legislature is to further enhance the state’s efforts in working with unaccompanied homeless youth and runaways to encourage family reconciliation or permanent housing and support through dependency when family reconciliation is not a viable alternative.
2. Successfully addressing youth and young adult homelessness ensures that homeless youth and young adults in our state have the support they need to thrive and avoid involvement in the justice system, human trafficking, long-term, avoidable use of public benefits, and extended adult homelessness.
3. Providing appropriate, relevant, and readily accessible services is critical for addressing one-time, episodic, or longer-term homelessness among youth and young adults, and keeping homeless youth and young adults safe, housed, and connected to family.
4. The coordination of statewide programs to combat youth and young adult homelessness should include programs addressing both youth and young adults. However, the legislature acknowledges that current law and best practices mandate that youth programs and young adult programs be segregated in their implementation. The legislature further finds that the differing needs of these populations should be considered when assessing which programs are relevant and appropriate.
5. To successfully reduce and prevent youth and young adult homelessness, it is the goal of the legislature to have the following key components available and accessible:
(a) Stable housing: It is the goal of the legislature to provide a safe and healthy place for homeless youth to sleep each night until permanency can be reached. Every homeless young adult in our state deserves access to housing that gives them a safe, healthy, and supported launching pad to adulthood. Every family in crisis should have appropriate support as they work to keep their children housed and safe. It is the goal of the legislature that every homeless youth discharged from a public system of care in our state will not be discharged into homelessness.

(b) Family reconciliation: All homeless youth should have access to services that support reunification with immediate family. When reunification is not possible for homeless youth, youth should be placed in the custody of the department of social and health services.

(c) Permanent connections: Every homeless young adult should have opportunities to establish positive, healthy relationships with adults, including family members, employers, landlords, teachers, and community members, with whom they can maintain connections and from whom they can receive ongoing, long-term support to help them develop the skills and experiences necessary to achieve a successful transition to adulthood.

(d) Education and employment: Every homeless young adult in our state deserves the opportunity and support they need to complete their high school education and pursue additional education and training. It is the goal of the legislature that every homeless young adult in our state will have the opportunity to engage in employment training and be able to access employment. With both education and employment support and opportunities, young adults will have the skills they need to become self-sufficient, self-reliant, and independent.

(e) Social and emotional well-being: Every homeless youth and young adult in our state should have access to both behavioral health care and physical health care. Every state-funded program for homeless youth and young adults must endeavor to identify, encourage, and nurture each youth’s strengths and abilities and demonstrate a commitment to youth-centered programming.

(5) When an administrator of a crisis residential center requests the formation of a team, the state agencies must respond as soon as possible.

Crisis Residential Centers - Purpose and Authority of Multidisciplinary Teams

(1) The purpose of the multidisciplinary team is to assist in a coordinated referral of the family to available social and health-related services.

(2) The team shall have the authority to evaluate the juvenile, and family members, if appropriate and agreed to by the parent, and shall:

(a) With parental input, develop a plan of appropriate available services and assist the family in obtaining those services;

(b) Make a referral to the designated chemical dependency specialist or the county designated mental health professional, if appropriate;

(c) Recommend no further intervention because the juvenile and his or her family have resolved the problem causing the family conflict; or

(d) With the parent's consent, work with them to achieve reconciliation of the child and family.

(3) At the first meeting of the multidisciplinary team, it shall choose a member to coordinate the team's efforts. The parent member of the multidisciplinary team must agree with the choice of coordinator. The team shall meet or communicate as often as necessary to assist the family.

(4) The coordinator of the multidisciplinary team may assist in filing a child in need of services petition when requested by the parent or child or an at-risk youth petition when requested by the parent. The multidisciplinary team shall have no standing as a party in any action under this title.

(5) If the administrator is unable to contact the child's parent, the multidisciplinary team may be used for assistance. If the parent has not been contacted within five days the administrator shall contact the department of social and health services and request the case be reviewed for a dependency filing under chapter 13.34 RCW.

Hope Centers- Establishment and Requirements

The department shall establish HOPE centers that provide no more than seventy-five beds across the state and may establish HOPE centers by contract, within funds appropriated by the legislature specifically for this purpose. HOPE centers shall be operated in a manner to reasonably assure that street youth placed there will not run away. Street youth may leave a HOPE center during the course of the day to attend school or other necessary appointments, but the street youth must be accompanied by an administrator or an administrator’s designee. The street youth must provide the administration with specific information regarding his or her destination and expected time of return to the HOPE center. Any street youth who runs away from a HOPE center shall not be readmitted unless specifically authorized by the street youth’s placement and liaison specialist, and the placement and liaison specialist shall document with specific factual findings an appropriate basis for readmitting any street youth to a HOPE center. HOPE centers are required to have the following:

1. A license issued by the department of social and health services;
2. A professional with a master’s degree in counseling, social work, or related field and at least one year of experience working with street youth or a bachelor of arts degree in social work or a related field and five years of experience working with street youth. This professional staff person may be contractual or a part-time employee, but must be available to work with street youth in a HOPE center at a ratio of one to every fifteen youth staying in a HOPE center. This professional shall be known as a placement and liaison specialist. Preference shall be given to those professionals cross-credentialed in mental health and chemical dependency. The placement and liaison specialist shall:
   (a) Conduct an assessment of the street youth that includes a determination of the street youth’s legal status regarding residential placement;
   (b) Facilitate the street youth’s return to his or her legally authorized residence at the earliest possible date or initiate processes to arrange legally authorized appropriate placement. Any street youth who may meet the definition of dependent child under RCW 13.34.030 must be referred to the department of social and health services. The department of social and health services shall determine whether a dependency petition should be filed under chapter 13.34 RCW. A shelter care hearing must be held within seventy-two hours to authorize out-of-home placement for any youth the department of social and health services determines is appropriate for out-of-home placement under chapter 13.34 RCW. All of the provisions of chapter 13.32A RCW must be followed for children in need of services or at-risk youth;
   (c) Interface with other relevant resources and system representatives to secure long-term residential placement and other needed services for the street youth;
   (d) Be assigned immediately to each youth and meet with the youth within eight hours of the youth receiving HOPE center services;
   (e) Facilitate a physical examination of any street youth who has not seen a physician within one year prior to residence at a HOPE center and facilitate evaluation by a county-designated mental health professional, a chemical dependency specialist, or both if appropriate; and
   (f) Arrange an educational assessment to measure the street youth’s competency level in reading, writing, and basic mathematics, and that will measure learning disabilities or special needs;
3. Staff trained in development needs of street youth as determined by the department, including an administrator who is a professional with a master’s degree in counseling, social work, or a related field and at least one year of experience working with street youth, or a bachelor of arts degree in social work or a related field and five years of experience working with street youth, who must work with the placement and liaison specialist to provide appropriate services on site;

(4) A data collection system that measures outcomes for the population served, and enables research and evaluation that can be used for future program development and service delivery. Data collection systems must have confidentiality rules and protocols developed by the department;

(5) Notification requirements that meet the notification requirements of chapter 13.32A RCW. The youth’s arrival date and time must be logged at intake by HOPE center staff. The staff must immediately notify law enforcement and dependency caseworkers if a street youth runs away from a HOPE center. A child may be transferred to a secure facility as defined in RCW 13.32A.030 whenever the staff reasonably believes that a street youth is likely to leave the HOPE center and not return after full consideration of the factors set forth in RCW 13.32A.130(2)(a), (i) and (ii) (as recodified by this act). The street youth’s temporary placement in the HOPE center must be authorized by the court or the secretary of the department of social and health services if the youth is a dependent of the state under chapter 13.34 RCW or the department of social and health services is responsible for the youth under chapter 13.32A RCW, or by the youth's parent or legal custodian, until such time as the parent can retrieve the youth who is returning to home;

(6) HOPE centers must identify to the department of social and health services any street youth it serves who is not returning promptly to home. The department of social and health services then must contact the missing children's clearinghouse identified in chapter 13.60 RCW and either report the youth's location or report that the youth is the subject of a dependency action and the parent should receive notice from the department of social and health services;

(7) Services that provide counseling and education to the street youth; and

(8) The department shall award contracts for the operation of HOPE center beds with the goal of facilitating the coordination of services provided for youth by such programs and those services provided by secure and semi-secure crisis residential centers.

Hope Centers- Eligibility

To be eligible for placement in a HOPE center, a minor must be either a street youth, as that term is defined in this chapter, or a youth who, without placement in a HOPE center, will continue to participate in increasingly risky behavior. Youth may also self-refer to a HOPE center. Payment for a HOPE center bed is not contingent upon prior approval by the department; however, approval from the department of social and health services is needed if the youth is dependent under chapter 13.34 RCW.
